

P. A. C's AND PUNAHOU RECEIVE MERRY LACING

Coast Defense 5, P. A. C's 4.
Asahi 1, All-Chinese 0.

(From Monday Advertiser.)

Umpires were numerous at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon, and the spectators who had the P. A. C's winning hands down and likewise the All-Chinese team mauling the life out of Manuel Parson's old reliable Tony Medeiros, and then they took away $9999 worth of value from his $10,000 beauty, Soldier Sloan, winning in handsome style by a score of 5 to 4. In the second contest a makeshift aggregation of diamond stars, under the tutelage of one Mr. Abe, smacked a seat of whitewash over the speck and uniform of the All-Chinese, winning by an air-tight score of 1 to 0. A exhibition of the far-famed international pastime, both contests were far superior to the article the fans were compelled to gaze on on the day previous. All four of the teams went out to win, and each showed an inclination to give the fans their money's worth. R. H. plays and likewise, and B. B. P. were few and far between, and no one really had a kick coming.

Errors Help P. A. C.

Parson's crew were saved a whitewash through errors. In the seventh inning, an error at first base, a hit and a sacrifice, gave them a run and an error in the field, another at first base and three hits gave them their other three runs.

All-Chinese Blanked

The second contest of the day was well played and brilliant fielding on both sides and excellent pitching by Araki in the pinches featured the contest. Time and again the All-Chinese got men on the bases and looked about to score but either Araki's heady work on the hill or well handled hits by his fielders saved him.

Second baseman T. Uyeno was the man who caused all the trouble for Luck Yee and likewise kept the All-Chinese out of first place. Opening the sixth inning, he lifted one to the outfield which settled him two bases. A moment later he landed at third and, when Nishi grounded out to Cheong, Uyeno romped to the rubber with the run which eventually won the game.

RUNS—HAWAII 14, PUNAHOU 5.
ERRORS—PUN 10, HAWAII 5.

(From Sunday Advertiser.)

Had some of the sand lot leaguers been playing at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon with the Oahu Leaguers looking on and had the sand lotters played as did the Oahu Leaguers, the latter would have voted the contest a mighty P-U-N-K game of baseball. Therefore if the Oahu Leaguers would have voted a poor game of ball there is no reason why the sand lotters should act do likewise—and they do. Really Alfred Cottle was ashamed of his crew and it is a safe wager he absolutely refused to go home with them when the game was over. Fair-haired Al's bunch played worse than sand lotters and the wonder is, why did not the Hawaiians gather twice as many runs as they did.

Hawaiians Gather One.

After the Puns had their chance in the opening round and failed to accomplish anything startling, Hawaiians had a run over the pun. Henry Chillingworth shot a safety to rightfield, and when Burton kicked the ball about with his pedals, Chilly meandered over to second. Seeing a chance to reach third, Henry lowered his head like a wild bull and tore away. Burton threw well enough to corral Henry but Willie Hoogs muffed the throw and Henry went right on home. Funnish gathered one in their half of the contest. A pass to Burton, Eddie Nelli's out, Nelli's hit and Henry Chillingworth's bottle. Hawaiians added one to their count in the same round on a pass to Franco, Inman's error of Alex Desha's hit, and a safety by Davis Desha who had replaced the renowned John McGraw. Nelly as a hitter.

Why John McGraw was never given a chance to hit the ball will remain one of the mysteries of the Oahu League, but it is suspected that John McGraw lost what little batting eye he ever had and Captain Davis did not want to see him lose the rest of it. Anyway, John McGraw was denied the chance to stand in the spotlight.

Up to this time the game was a 1,000 contest. Then came the third inning and the class of the exhibition dropped down to 200.

Still They Bobble.

Two hits, two errors, a sacrifice fly and a couple of fielders' choices gave Hawaiians two runs in the fifth. The sixth was useless, but in the seventh Hawaiians gathered three more. A couple of bobbles, two hits, a stolen base and a fielder's choice, helped them good cause along.

In the next round, the eighth, Walker in rightfield did not know whether to catch the ball with his mouth or hands and the result was he dropped a fly from Brewer's bat. Brewer got to second on one out and to third on another and when Alex Desha cut in with a wild pitch Brewer romped home, their half, Walker, Franco, A. Desha and Nelli batted for Desha and drove out singles. These with a fielder's choice, a wild pitch by Inman and a bobble by the same youth, gave the Hawaiians four more on the scoreboard.

In the ninth inning Alex Desha thought he had Homer struck out instead of issuing a pass and elongated Alex let out a belch. This caused one of the shortstop fans in the grandstand to request the benching of Alex and all the rest of them, but as two were in the hole at the time, Stanton concluded to finish it out. Argabrite then lifted a dinky fly to Plata in left and the curtain was rung down on the great comedy. "How Not to Play Baseball." Here is the cast and what happened according to little Willie Hoogs.
